

Clever Rabbit | Bedtime Stories For Adults

There was a beautiful pond in a forest. In the middle of that forest was a place like an island. One has to cross that pond to get to this island.

The island had delicious fruits and vegetables. All the animals in the forest have a desire to eat the fruit that is there. But! No one dared to go to that place.

There were a lot of crocodiles in that pond. One day a rabbit living in the same forest went to the pond to drink water. Then he looked at the island.

The rabbit wondered, "I want to go to the island and eat all the fruits and vegetables there, but how can I escape from these crocodiles?"

The rabbit had an idea. The next morning the rabbit came to the pond and called all the crocodiles loudly. The crocodiles approached the rabbit angrily wondering who had dared to call us like this.

"It simply came to notice then. Promise me you will not do anything," said the rabbit. A crocodile said, "Don't worry, we will not do anything to you."

“This wild king wants to put a big dinner on all the animals here. He wants me to make a list of animals in the jungle. He told me to count how many people are there to attend the heavy dinner. I will tell the king how many people there are in total,”said the rabbit.

All the crocodiles talked inside them for a while. Then a crocodile asked, "Well, how do you count us?". "I would jump on your back and count it so easy for everyone to stand in line one after the other," said the rabbit.

All the crocodiles did as the rabbit said. The line extends from the shore of the pond to the shore of the island. The rabbit immediately jumped on the crocodiles' backs and successfully landed on the island.

Throughout the day the rabbit ate all the fruits and vegetables, rested well and came ashore in the evening. The rabbit that had gone in the morning came back in the evening and the crocodiles asked, "What have you been doing for so long?"

"It simply came to my notice then. Counting how many of you are is not that easy. This time I will definitely count correctly to stand in that line like it was in the morning one more time,”said the rabbit.

All the crocodiles believed what the rabbit said and stood in line again. Immediately the rabbit jumped on the backs of the crocodiles and went safely to the pond.

Just as a rabbit cleverly escapes from the crocodile's.

Justice : We must think and act carefully,according to the situations.
