

Trusting a bad guy makes one's life downfall | moral short story

Ganesh - Dinesh - Ramesh - Mahesh were four brothers. At the time of their father's death, the four of them had divided everything equally they had, house, land, money and jewelery.

Brother Mahesh was jealous of his three brothers. He wanted the other three to loose their wealth and to wander on the streets as poor beggars.

One day he met a gang of robbers and an idea stroke to his mind. He gave them the addresses of his brothers and told them to rob on his brothers houses.

Each month the three brother's house was looted. The robbers came to Mahesh's house in the fourth month after three months.

He looked at them and said, "Thank you for robbing the houses of my three brothers. I will give you a reward."

"What you have done is reward to us. We will take what we need from your house. Give me the key of the bureau said the robbers."

Mahesh replied, "What kind of money and jewelery do I have, when I have lost all my possessions and I am extremely poor?"

The robbers replied "Your brothers have told us all the details of where your money and jewelery are hidden. So give us the key properly? If you no we shall show our robbery or murder?"

Threatened, and he thought that if he is alive only he can earn money and the jewels. So he gave them the bureau key.

The robbers took all the money and jewels from him and left.

Mahesh realized that he lost everything because he was aiming on his brothers to lose everything and fall, and he felt guilty on his mistake.
