Henry is a student at the village school.

Accustomed with love and respect to teachers and students.

The one who excels first in every subject more than the other students in the classroom. But when Henry comes to school every day, he never comes even a day early.

He would come to the classroom only after the school bell rang. The class teacher was surprised to see Henry coming to school for several days.

One day class teacher called him and asked “Henry! Why do you miss school every day? Can't you come to school on time?”. He asked.

On hearing this, Henry greeted the class teacher and said, “Sir! I come from a poor family. My father is bedridden.

My mom would get up early in the morning and go to work for wages. I'm leaving for school just after I've done my dad's chores.

Our family lives in poverty, on the wages my mother earns we survive. So I take care of the housework myself without giving much trouble to my mother.

I will come to the classroom after finishing all the work and so I used to come after the bell rings at school. This is the reason why I am late for school,” said student Henry.

The class teacher stared at Henry His eyes fluttered as he listened to Henry .

“Henry! All these days I have been angry at you that you have been missing class time for some other reason. Only after looking at you now and understanding your situation that I come to know the true situation.

I will arrange for the cure of your father's disease by a doctor I know and arrange for the school administration to help you with your studies.

You will get so much help because you took good care of your father and mother.

You can study well without worrying anymore.”

Henry looked at the class teacher and shed tears of joy.

“Sir! All these days I have been suppressing all my suffering within myself. Today is the time of liberation for all my hardships through you.

From now on, I will study with hard work and enthusiasm to become the first student in the state.”

Justice: You can live well if you take care of your father and mother.
